

In vivo exposure

In vivo exposure involves confronting a feared situation, usually in a gradual way. This is a type of behaviour therapy and is covered on page 21.